All About Cremation

Your deceased family member never leaves our care

We are among the very few mortuaries to operate our own crematory inside our clean and secure facility. It is important to understand that because of this we are in control of your loved ones' care from your initial contact with us until the cremated remains are returned to you or placed in their final resting place.

We cremate only one person at a time

It takes more effort to ensure that the cremation is handled with care, dignity and high standards. To assure that your loved one is being cared for appropriately, we adhere to rigid standards in every cremation process. Each of our crematory staff is highly trained and certified. They are dedicated to providing dignified cremation services for your loved one and adhere to the cremation Code of Ethics, and all applicable state laws as an assurance to you of our commitment to dignity and honesty.

Your personal inspection is encouraged

We are the region's first crematory to encourage your personal inspection. We are also the first to offer a special viewing room located next to our crematory to facilitate those who wish to be present for the start of the cremation process.

Understanding the Cremation Process

Cremation is the process of reducing the body of the deceased to fragments of bone by the way of heat and flame. We prefer to say "cremated body" or "cremated remains" rather than "ashes" because we believe that the term "ashes" can be misleading. Our funeral directors or crematory staff can explain the consistency of cremated remains in as much detail as you prefer. If you are considering scattering, we would recommend you ask us to prepare you for what you will see. If the deceased is Jewish, Christian Orthodox, Muslim, or Roman Catholic, you may wish to consult clergy or our staff for guidance. For example, the Catholic Church strongly advocates the presence of the whole body – not the cremated body – for the Funeral Mass with cremation to take place later. The Catholic Church does not accept scattering. Our cremation authorization form goes into some detail in explaining the cremation process, our policies and procedures. You will receive a copy of the completed form.

Cremation Service Options

It will be necessary to select or provide a container for any viewing and/or the cremation process as well as a container for the cremated remains. We offer a wide variety of rental and combustible containers for cremation. We also offer a wide variety of distinctive and value-priced urns. We can package, transport, and mail the cremated remains by U.S. Priority Express Mail only (other carriers will not accept cremated remains) anywhere in the United States for $175 (add cost of urn). To be safe allow at least 1-3 business days for Priority Express Mail in the continental U.S. Because we schedule our crematory days in advance, and due in part to the time involved in meeting the legal requirements of the death certificate and disposition permit, we ask for 5-7 days following death to complete the cremation process. Let us know if this creates difficulty - we'll try our best to accommodate you.
